GST 102 — Communication in English

Note taking helps the listener capture the main points of a lecture.

Clarity and conciseness make writing easier to understand.

Paraphrasing restates a passage in your own words without changing the meaning.

Formal letters follow a standard structure with address, salutation, and body.

Communication is the transfer of a message from a sender to a receiver.

Effective listening requires attention, patience, and honest feedback.

A memorandum is a short, direct message used within a formal organisation.

The topic sentence introduces the main idea of a paragraph.

Register refers to the level of formality in language use.

An outline organises ideas before a long essay is written.

Non verbal cues include gestures, posture, and facial expression.

Summary writing keeps only the essential points of a text.
